Day Ride #187 – Sunday 30th August, 2009

Was that a Growling Frog?

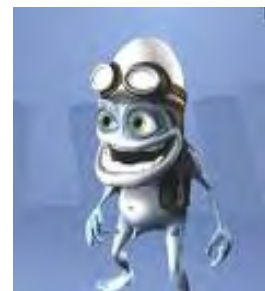

It's not that often that a destination gives us such a simple name for a ride flyer. But that's what happened this time.

We have a most special ride for the next Sunday ride. We will be running it in two different groups – both on road – and finishing up in the same location. We will be running a very easy ride to cater for some of our new riders and those that don't want to be tested too heavily.

So if you have any learner friends or a rider getting back onto the bike, or even someone intimidated by the larger group, invite them along. The first ride will be a nice and easy ride on some of the more open, but not straight roads, pre- tested by our learner advisors.

A second ride will be run to the same destination, slightly more challenging. By slightly, I mean slightly, maybe an extra 50km of bitumen riding from Diamond Creek to the Growling Frog in Whittlesea.
